Nissen Art Gallery at TMH features works of local artist

(Warren, OH – January 21, 2010) Trumbull Memorial Hospital Foundation, in partnership with Trumbull Area Artists, presents an exhibit by Ann Ryser, artist in residence, from Hartford Township, OH.

Ryser has works in private collections across the United States. Her paintings are on display at the Butler Museum of American Art, The Trumbull Art Gallery and several private galleries in the area.

Ryser's works range from realism and non-objective styles to abstracts with a spiritual or emotional theme. Most recently, she is working on a group entitled "Tuxedo Series" rendered entirely in black and white with strong emphasis on design and composition. A variety of paintings from her portfolio are on display in the Nissen Art Gallery located on the first floor of the North Lobby at Trumbull Memorial Hospital, 1350 East Market Street, Warren, OH. The exhibit runs from until March 4, 2010.

Trumbull Area Artists, an organization that began in 2002, serves as a communication vehicle for area artists. The newsletter and Web site www.artgally.com/taa offers support and publicizes upcoming shows, exhibits, classes and other news. Membership consists of approximately 230 artists from Trumbull, Mahoning, Columbiana and Ashtabula counties and western Pennsylvania.
